

A Time to Come Together

Kairoi's support of the Uvalde community

From all of us at Kairoi Residential, we extend our most heartfelt condolences to the victims' families, loved ones, and the entire community of Uvalde, Texas. Our hope is that from this tragic event we can all come together to bring some sense of peace and comfort to a grieving community.

We invite everyone to help the victims and their families in a couple of ways. You can send financial support to the First State Bank of Uvalde, who has established a Robb School Memorial Fund to provide aid as needed. Please note that the FSB account is the only verified location to make monetary donations. No other source is currently recognized.

Furthermore, there is a need for blood donations. University Health, in San Antonio, has long served as a place where the citizens of Uvalde, as well as surrounding communities, have made blood donations and received their medical care. If you are able to help with blood donations, you can learn more on their website below.
